PERFORMANCE DAY

20 July 2024

MESSAGE FROM STUDIO STARLIT

Allow me to take this opportunity to thank our learners and parents for the commitment this past one week to train and rehearse the Musical Theatre performance of the Wizard of Oz. We appreciate your commitment to keep bringing these wonderful bunch of learners to class every day in the middle of summer heat !

Studio Starlit believes in equipping learners with the right life skills to stand out from their contemporaries and peers. Our programmes in cooperation with AISL Harrow are designed to foster creativity, self-esteem, empathy, interpersonal communication and teamwork by building on the talents of the individual. Through this LAMDA Theatre programme, we utilise acting, singing, and dancing as the medium to train such life skills.

WHAT IS LAMDA?

LAMDA – LONDON ACADEMY OF MUSIC AND DRAMATIC ART - is a world class drama school established in London in 1861, offering exceptional vocational education and training to actors, musical theatre performers, technicians, directors and learners of all abilities. LAMDA's educational and examination programmes have provided students and graduates with outstanding communication and performance skills, optimising their future opportunities in both their careers and daily life.

LAMDA is recognised as an awarding organisation by Ofqual, the Office of Qualifications and Examinations Regulations in England. Communication and performance examinations at Grades 6 to 8 are recognised within the UCAS tariff for UK university entrance.

Since the 1880s LAMDA has been helping learners all over the world to develop into confident speakers. Worldwide, LAMDA examines in excess of 100,000 learners a year. Their exceptional reputation has resulted in their Syllabi being an integral part of the curriculum in independent and state schools, performing arts schools, colleges and globally used by independent teachers. The LAMDA Syllabi enhances a learner's creative skills in a fun and explorative way, developing their self-assurance and self-confidence, allowing them to articulate and express their thoughts and ideas, and make their authentic voice heard.

Using LAMDA Syllabi as the foundation, Studio Starlit prepares learners to attain the right life skills to stand out from their contemporaries and peers.

WHAT ARE LIFE SKILLS?

UNICEF: Life skills are defined as a group of psychosocial competencies and interpersonal skills that help people make informed decisions, solve problems, think critically and creatively, communicate effectively, build healthy relationships, empathize with others, and cope with and manage their lives in a healthy and productive manner.

Focusing on the word "skill". As a sport man myself, who have had experienced building skills on running marathon, I view this life skills in a similar way. That it is a skill that we need to train on continuously to get better and better and better.

Usain Bolt, an eight-time Olympic Gold medallist once said: "I trained 4 years to run 9 seconds". Likewise, our young learners today are going through similar experience. They have worked hard for 5 days, individually and as a team, and they will now shine on stage. Let us witness the fruit of their hard work, and I trust this week's teamwork and training will have long-lasting sweet memories

THE WIZARD OF OZ

SYNOPSIS

On the Kansas prairies, a young girl named Dorothy lives on a farm with her Aunt, Uncle, and her little black dog, Toto. One day, a raging cyclone suddenly rolls through the prairie and picks up the entire farmhouse. Eventually, the house lands, and Dorothy finds herself in a strange and beautiful country full of trees, rivers, and colourful flowers. Small people called Munchkins approach her, accompanied by an older woman: the Good Witch of the North. The Witch explains to Dorothy that she is now in the Land of Oz, and thanks her for killing the Wicked Witch of the East. Surprised at this remark, Dorothy notices that the farmhouse has indeed landed on someone wearing shiny slippers. The Good Witch of the North goes on to explain that the enchanted slippers belong to Dorothy now, and that the only remaining wicked witch in Oz is the Wicked Witch of the West.

The Good Witch of the North tells Dorothy to travel to the Emerald City and see the great and powerful Wizard of Oz, who can surely send Dorothy back home. Dorothy sets off with Toto down the yellow brick road, which leads to the Emerald City.

Along the way, she meets three strange new companions: the Scarecrow, the Tin Man, and the Cowardly Lion. The Scarecrow has a head full of straw, and he dearly wishes he had a brain. The Tin Man is a hollow man made of tin who wants a heart more than anything. The Cowardly Lion is a great beast who nonetheless seems to be afraid of everyone and everything, and he therefore desires courage.

All three of them agree to accompany Dorothy on her quest in the hopes that the Wizard of Oz can grant them what they want as well as sending Dorothy home. The group encounters many perils on their way to the Emerald City, and each of Dorothy's new friends seems to display the quality they believe they lack, without even noticing. The Scarecrow comes up with clever plans, the Tin Man shows deep compassion for every innocent creature, and the Cowardly Lion displays a surprising amount of bravery.
